The Boys' business has almost doubled during the past week. All due to that immense purchase of Boys' Suits, Chinchilla Reefers and Overcoats secured at one-third less than regular prices from that New York manufacturer who afterwards failed. Think of All-wool Suits at $2.50 and grand Navy Blue Chinchilla Reefers at $4. Sorry we did not buy double the quantity.

AMONG THE UNIVERSITIES

Interest in the Effort on Behalf of American Students in France.

Columbian Debating Society Favors Compulsory Education of Youth. Dr. Hooker's Lectures.

A topic of interest in university circles is the pamphlet lately issued by the Paris American University committee for the purpose of promoting the interests of American students in France. In Paris this committee has under the presidency of Dr. Thomas W. Evans, a former resident of Washington and brother of Dr. Warrington W. Evans, of this city. It has also the direct patronage of the American ambassador.

The object of the committee is to induce American students to matriculate at French rather than in German universities. At the Sorbonne there are but thirty Americans enrolled, while the University of Bonn has 262. At the smaller French universities, the situation is even more unfavorable. It has never been assumed by the Germans that their courses are superior to the French, so the reason of the greater popularity of the former is due to the rigid examinations of the French schools.

In Germany a student is allowed to matriculate for post-graduate degrees on the presentation of a diploma from any recognized college in the United States. France, however, is more difficult, and subjects the applicant to a rigid preliminary examination, and exercises a surveillance over the student that deprives him of the right of free and independent investigation.

The committee pays a great compliment to America by saying that her students are very desirable because they are mature and in search of true scientific knowledge; and that France has herself by placing unnecessary obstacles in the way of their entrance to her colleges. It is therefore suggested that French educators be persuaded to relax somewhat their old-fashioned discipline, and such a paper, prepared under the presidency of Dr. Simon Newcomb, of the United States Observatory, and signed by many college dignitaries, will shortly be forwarded to the French bureau of education. This scheme was a favorite of the late Dr. Louis Pasteur, and receives the hearty support of M. Berthelot, president of the French Academy, and the French ambassador, Pate notre.

COLUMBIAN UNIVERSITY.
The debating society on Saturday argued whether or not the State should compel education of youth. Messrs. R. F. Able, W. E. Felt, and C. E. Allen, supported the affirmative and Messrs. T. F. Epps, James Heaus and L. F. Mather the negative. The affirmative won. A large assembly of members and their guests heard the argument.

Prof. J. Howard Gore spent Saturday in Baltimore conferring with his colleagues. President Gillette of Johns Hopkins relative to the work of the jury of awards of the Atlanta Exposition. This body contains nine presidents of important colleges and many professors. It is almost entirely composed of educators and is spoken of as one of the best juries of its kind ever assembled.

Dr. D. K. Shute, dean of the medical faculty, announces that the medical course at Columbia will hereafter be four years instead of three; that nine hours per week instead of three will be devoted to classics, and that Dr. Charles W. Richardson will give a special course in bacteriology with the eye and ear at the Lutheran infirmary. Applicants for matriculation to the clinical class must have had two courses of clinical instruction.

CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY.
Dr. Daniel Quinn, secretary of the American Social Science Association, is busily engaged preparing the minutes of the last meeting, and will shortly issue them in pamphlet form.

In the Grecian academy, of which Dr. Quinn is the head, a series of lectures on Greek architecture, illustrated by stereopticon views, will begin today. During the next two weeks these lectures will be of a preparatory character on the general styles, and on November 19 the study of Ionic architecture, the mother of the art in Europe, will be commenced.

The history of social science, Dr. Hooker is lecturing on "Habit." While these discourses are of a profound philosophic character, Dr. Hooker was singularly happy in his lecture in treating the problem, how far man is a rational being, responsible for his actions under the influence of his life-long custom or temperament, usually called habit.

The rector, Dr. Rev. Bishop Keane, who has been in Providence, R. I., as the guest of Hon. Joseph R. Keane, the donor of the chair of political economy occupied by Hon. Carroll D. Wright, will return in a few days. Incidentally the bishop delivered a course of lectures on temperance.

The history of the Catholic Church in the United States, written by Rev. Thomas O'Gorman, D. D., of Divinity Hall, recently published by the Christian Literature Company, New York, forms the ninth volume of this interesting series. Dr. O'Gorman treats his subject with a breadth and tolerance to be expected from a man of his attainments and wide acquaintance.

The era of the Spanish and French missions make a story as thrilling as a romance, and the historian takes occasion to commend the policy of the European governments in their treatment of the Indians. This work promises to become a standard and will take the place of the Gleanings of Europe, which have long been considered standard. The style is lucid, the matter well arranged and the deductions of the author, well substantiated by the facts, and not weak or wanting, are of a dispassionate nature and not calculated to arouse a bigoted opposition. It succeeds where many histories fail in telling a plain tale, simply and accurately.

GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY.
The Philodetic Society, at its last meeting, debated the question as to whether or not the Philodetic Society should be continued. The question was carried by a vote of 10 to 8. The prize will be a handsome silver cup.

Rush for Clothing

When we announced that we must raise $15,885.18 by December 2, to meet the note held by Bergher & Co., Syracuse, N. Y., and that if we could not raise this amount we would be forced to close our doors, we never expected that the public, our patrons and our staunch friends in the past, would come so nobly to our rescue.

OUR NECESSITY SALE

We have practically turned over our entire magnificent stock of fine Winter Suits, Overcoats, and Children's and Boys' Clothing to the public at their own prices. Everything is being sacrificed at less than wholesale cost to raise this sum, and raise it we must—When Clothing is going at such prices buyers should take advantage of it without delay.

success in attending the lectures, in the new hall connected with Freedman's Hospital. After the students assist at surgical operations, they repair to this hall, where they are theoretically instructed.

DRAMATIC NOTES.

Fanny Rice produced "Nancy" in Rochester last week and scored an unmistakable hit. Next Burgess will give his new play, "The Year One," its first production, at the Star Theater, New York, on November 5.

"Ambition," the new play written for Nat Goodwin, by Henry Clay Carlton, and has caught the fancy of the metropolis. A new Irish play called, "On Erin's Shore," will be produced in Philadelphia on December 16. It is the work of Michael F. Moroney.

Sadie Martindale and Emily Rigg have been engaged for the cast of "In Sight of St. Paul" for its New York production, at the American Theater, November 4.

Lillie Fox will add "The Little Trooper" to her repertoire and play it in conjunction with "Fleur de Lis" on the road.

SOMETHING PLAINATIVE.
How Miss Walworth Secured Appropriation for Country Orchestra.
Among the severe trials to which theatrical stars are exposed is the awful music to which they are often treated on one night stands. Miss Walworth had a rather more pleasant experience in this way recently in a one-night stand in Pennsylvania. The actress is very particular about her music, and most especially so in her new play, "His Puritan Wife," in which a plume strain is very necessary in one of the later acts.

PARSON DAVIES EN ROUTE

Distinguished Party of Fugs Fire Last Gun in the War of Words.

Big John L. Sullivan Took How Be Always Found a Way to Fight Anybody Who Challenged Him.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—"Parson" Davies and the party he took to Hot Springs returned from the seat of war of words last night.

"I'm sick and sore and this fighting business that I'm compelled to stay over and rest out," said Big John.

"It ain't so very long ago that I used to be in this fighting business myself, and I could always find a way to fight any fellow that wanted to fight. I ain't saying which one of these fellows didn't want to fight, but it's a sure thing one of 'em was scared."

"You can pick him out if you like. I won't tell you which one it is."

The ex-champion goes East today, and he declared he would go sober and take the road with the "Parson's" exclamation as soon as they could get straightened out.

Paddy Ryan, meanwhile, has gone to Troy, N. Y., where he will remain until the company takes the road again.

Peter Maher was more thoroughly out of sorts at the fight fiasco than anyone who has been in the ring.

"I have been pulled about from Europe to Dallas and then to Hot Springs, all for no purpose," said he.

"I'm a fighter all right, but I ain't got the fight with my backer and then take a fresh start."

Excuse who came in from the selected bathroom tells the same story of two men fighting a war of words, when they should have been building somewhere for a championship.

"The Brownies" Coming.
The advance sale of C. B. Jefferson, Klav & Eriksen's enormously successful production of "Palmer Cox's Brownies," which will be at the Lafayette Square Opera House the week of November 11, opens Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock sharp.

The big spectacle will be presented in Washington just at it ran for 150 nights to crowded houses in New York, and its gorgeous spectacle, effects, unique specialties, and novel ballets created such a sensation that they proved the talk of the metropolis, and were described and illustrated in all the principal magazines, and in a number of the high-class magazines.

"The Brownies," with its stirring scenes, will prove a revelation to Washington theatergoers. The story is simple, and the complete destruction of a magnificent palace are all marvelously presented, and throughout the glowing spectacle, there is a succession of ballets, specialties of a high class, tuncful music, and brilliant stage pictures, etc., all interpreted by a large organization of handsome, shapely young women and the dearest performers obtainable. The aerial ballet, the season's distinct novelty, will be performed here in "The Brownies" for the first time.

GENERAL SPORTING NOTES.
All of the crack bicycle riders in Ohio and Indiana attended a meet at Alliance on Saturday, and they all went home broken-hearted. There were eight events on the card, for which prizes aggregating about $100 were high. The champion of the named Steve, hailing from Lisbon, started four times and won every race he went after, and finished by beating the mile race track record. Steve had never been heard of up to that time.

Fred Ely, the great shortstop of the St. Louis team, is in a serious condition. A bad cold contracted a couple of months ago has settled on his lungs, and he is suffering from a severe attack of pneumonia in his legs. It is feared that he will not be able to play all winter.

Jimmy McAker, of the Cleveland club, is trumpeting around Ohio with a comedy company. It is said that he has been offered an important place in the Western League, and he is thinking seriously of accepting.

August Belmont's determination not to send Harry to Navarre to England has greatly disappointed some of the American contingent who will race their horses in that country next year. Navarre would be a strong addition to the American stable, and now there is going to England, and now there is going to help the Americans make a good showing.

The Wisconsin State University baseball team is negotiating with Fred Pfeffer to have him coach them next spring until his services are required by New York. Pfeffer has agreed to take the job.

Not one of the members of the Brooklyn baseball club has thus far signed a contract for next year.

Hulen, the new player signed by the Philadelphia baseball club, is a triple play man. When a team is hit by a home run, Hulen made four hits, including a home run, and accepted all of the line chances at short. Harper did not get on base, and defeated the Los Angeles team by the score of 11 to 10.

English athletes do not seem satisfied to rest under the crushing defeat administered to them by Americans this year. There is talk on the other side of challenging the New York Athletic Club and securing for the contest the best team England can produce. The games would probably be held at Manchester, where more gate money could be obtained than in London.

LOCAL ATHLETIC GOSSIP

Alumni Gives Substantial Encouragement to the Varsity Team.

Seven Teams Will Probably Go Into the District Championship Football Games If They Can Get In.

Mr. R. E. Barrett and Mr. G. L. Johnson, who have taken the task of raising the necessary funds for putting the new Columbia Varsity football team on the field, are getting along finely. They have met with much encouragement from all of those who have thus far been approached and expect to have no trouble in securing the needed money.

The question who will captain and manage the Varsity men will be determined this week. There are several men whose names have been mentioned, but one of them, but Reeves Lewis seems to be the most likely candidate. Lewis has the candidates for positions on the team in hand, while the question of permanent officials is pending. Last week he got out a code of signals and the men are now at study on them.

As to who will be the manager of the team, is an interesting subject. Mr. Johnson and Mr. Barrett both have warm supporters. They are the spirits that originated the Varsity team movement, and both are enthusiastic for its success. Mr. Barrett is the managing editor of The City, the college paper, and if he should be chosen manager of the football team would have to give up his paper work, which he does not care to do, so it is quite probable that the control of the team will fall to Mr. Johnson.

While a great deal of praise has been showered upon both the Orioles and Potomacs for the splendid quality of football put up by them in their game last Wednesday, the Orioles are not delighted over the doing of the Potomacs on the occasion. If reports are true, it is claimed by the friends of the Orioles that neither Bright nor Clark should have been played by the Potomacs, because both of them are Columbia Athletic Club men, and belong to the athletic club team. These importations, it is said, did much toward keeping the Potomacs from being beaten.

While the mile race of many of the riders in the Dupont Circle Club's road race were being looked into, The Times said that the result of the investigating committee's deliberations, whatever that might be, was liable to bring about a match race between Fred Sims and Tom Mudd.

Sims and Mudd ride for rival cycle firms, and the managers of the local agencies of these firms, Mr. Brittain and Mr. McAker, have agreed to have the match race, to be a side for a race.

Just when the event is to come off has not been announced. It will hardly take place inside of two weeks, it is said, because Sims was not in good shape in the old race, and having allowed Mudd to choose his own way of riding, will take time to properly condition himself. The men are to start five minutes apart, without pacers.

There are various opinions on the way the race will result. It is thought that if the men had agreed to start together, or start at different times with pacers, Sims would be winning word have been a good deal the best. Mudd is said to be susceptible to rattling, and easy breaking up, while Sims' greater experience in racing, and the tricks of the bicycle racing trade, and given him a level head.

Under the conditions agreed upon, however, it is believed that Mudd has a good chance to win. He is a strong, steady rider when not under excitement, and in this race is expected to show at his best. The statement does not think they will walk over, but they seem to be confident Fred will win.

The new Shamrock Athletic Club is making arrangements to hold an athletic carnival. The affair will take place as soon as the club's rooms have been put in proper shape.

At least ten teams from all of the prominent organizations in the city will be invited to take part in it.

The Carroll Institute and Potomac Wheelmen came together to-night for the second game in the basketball league championship. Twenty-two games are to be played in all. The schedule carries them back to December 22.

It is said that Bernard Wepfer, the champion amateur sprinter, has been asked to referee the game between the Shamrocks and Rockville Academy teams at Capitol Park, which is to be held on Saturday, November 10. He is not in the game this year, as he wants to take no chances on being hurt.

The announcement that the Potomacs are willing and ready to go into a series of games with the Columbia Athletic Club and Orioles for the championship of the Potomac has brought out the statement that there are several other teams around town that believe they can play football a little bit.

There was a good deal of hope and some reason to believe that the Potomacs would win the game between the Shamrocks and field meet to be held next Saturday, but both this hope and belief have been disappointed. Among the communications has brought out the statement that there are several other teams around town that believe they can play football a little bit.

The football men all over the city are much interested in the game between the Rockville Academy team and the Shamrocks to take place at Capitol Park on Saturday. This will be the Shamrocks' first regular line-up for the year. A great deal has been said about the team and everybody is anxious to see how good they are. The Rockville men are said to be capable of putting up a very stiff article of ball, and if the Shamrocks beat them and do it right handily, they will be rated strong enough to give any of the local combinations a troublesome time.

There is opposition that is becoming stronger every day to the pace-maker in bicycle racing. "A bicycle race between two or more contestants should be a pure trial of individual speed," says a writer in a recent issue of the "Cyclist."

"Every man should have equal advantages, and none should be favored. When a team is hit by a home run, Hulen made four hits, including a home run, and accepted all of the line chances at short. Harper did not get on base, and defeated the Los Angeles team by the score of 11 to 10."

NOTES ABOUT THE BOXERS.

The meeting between Billy Nally and young Comors, the East Washington boxer, at Joe Bateman's benefit the other night, which resulted rather disastrously for Nally, is said to be liable to hatch a real fight.

It is held that when Nally goes into a fight, he goes in for all he is worth and is as man as quickly as he can. Young Comors, understanding Nally's playful ways, determined to take no chances, and as soon as Bill showed signs of getting tricky went after him viciously, and was on the point of putting him out of business, for the time being, at least, when the police stepped things. But it is rumored, has been heard of these three men there is little championship timber in this country, or any other country, at this time, and the quality of these, with the possible exception of Fitzsimmons, is not of a high class.

It is believed that the Potomacs are willing and ready to go into a series of games with the Columbia Athletic Club and Orioles for the championship of the Potomac has brought out the statement that there are several other teams around town that believe they can play football a little bit.
